SAN DIEGO CITY COLLEGE NAMED A 2015 MILITARY FRIENDLY® SCHOOL
SIXTH DESIGNATION IN SIX YEARS

San Diego, CA – September 25, 2014— For the sixth consecutive year, San Diego City College has been designated a Military Friendly® School by Victory Media, a leading organization in successfully connecting the military and civilian worlds. The Military Friendly® Schools designation is awarded to the top 15 percent of colleges, universities and trade schools in the country that are doing the most to embrace military students, and to dedicate resources to ensure their success in the classroom and after graduation.

San Diego City College (SDCC), a Navy College Program Distance Learning Partner, has been providing technical training to the Navy for over 37 years. The training has included basic courses in Administration, Supply, Combat Systems, Engineering, Electronics, Personal Financial Management, Instructor Training, Avionics, Leadership, and Seamanship. In addition, SDCC has provided advanced courses, including Military “C” Schools, Culinary Arts, Air Traffic Control, and Fundamental Applied Skills. Service has been provided in as many as 14 states at 35 locations across the country.

“In a military town like San Diego, City College is proud to be a primary educational and career resource for our military members,” said Dr. Anthony Beebe, president of San Diego City College. “To be honored each year for our outreach and advancement to support military students really speaks to the dedication and commitment of our on-campus and off-campus Military Education staff.”

According to Victoria Media, its survey captures over 50 leading practices in supporting military students and is available free of charge to the more than 8,000 schools approved for Post-9/11 GI Bill funding. As in past years, the 2015 Military Friendly® Schools results were independently tested by Ernst & Young LLP based upon the weightings and methodology developed by Victory Media with input by its independent Academic Advisory Board.
