I. FACULTY HIRING RANKING PROCEDURE.

David Fierro shared that he tabled the Faculty Hiring Criteria and Ranking draft during the last meeting. Faculty continue to have questions about the proposal. If adopted, the ranking process will be piloted in the fall. Faculty want to know how the process will be vetted and, additionally, would like an opportunity to revisit the process after the pilot run. Randy asked members of the Faculty Ranking Subcommittee attend the next Academic Senate meeting. Lori Erreca suggested that the Faculty Hiring Criteria Subcommittee members also attend. Randy and David will meet with the subcommittee members prior to the next Academic Senate meeting.

II. DEVELOPMENT STUDIES – NEW PROGRAM PROPOSAL.

Jelena Bodinet, adjunct faculty, and Sarah Pitcher, Associate Professor of Sociology and department chair of the Behavioral Sciences Department shared a proposal for Development Studies program. Development Studies is an interdisciplinary program that would call for only one new course in the short-term and two additional courses in the long-term. While curriculum is under the purview of the college Curriculum Review Committee, the council focused its attention on resources needed for the new program. Jelena and Sarah explained that UC Berkeley, UC Los Angeles, CSU Monterey Bay, and Point Loma Nazarene all have Development Studies majors. Susi Fontana asked if the program name could be more descriptive. It was suggested the program be called Global Development Studies. June Cressy asked how the new program fits into the First Year Experience program. Edwin Hiel explained that FYE students take interdisciplinary programs in the third semester. Sarah said that the FTEF for the development studies courses will come from within the Behavioral Studies Department, and there is an expectation to increase the college offerings. Lori Erreca said that historically, the department collaborates to support new programs and courses (e.g. Personal Growth, Future Studies, Gender Studies). Sarah further said that the new program will not require special facilities or technology support.

III. GRANT GUIDELINES – GRANT REVIEW

Randy Barnes suggested that the campus review of grants could take place at Instructional Cabinet since it meets weekly. Further proposals could be verbal. Jacque Bell suggested that we need some kind of indication that the guidelines have been considered. This item will be revisited during a future MPAROC meeting.

Next meeting:  Wednesday, May 8, 3:30-4:30pm, Room D-102
