True or False

1. Experiences encountered by persons with disabilities are also shared by those regarded as nondisabled: rejection, pity, frustration, discrimination.

2. You can refuse a student with a disability the use of a tape recorder in the classroom.

3. A Service Animal is not allowed in the classroom.

4. Persons with disabilities sometimes try to conceal their disability because they see it as something which detracts from one’s acceptability.

5. If you are speaking to a blind person, you need to talk a little louder than usual.

6. If one is disabled, he/she is not intellectually.

7. A student who uses a reader, scribe or adaptive equipment for class work, may need test proctoring accommodations.

8. It is not necessary to verbally present important information that is written on the whiteboard.

9. A written outline of materials covered in slides or video is helpful for a blind student.

10. A note taker may be an accommodation for a deaf student.