On Course
Student Success Strategies
www.oncourseworkshop.com

On Course is a program of student success principles and innovative learner-centered strategies for empowering students to become active, responsible learners. The learner-centered strategies can be selectively integrated into any subject and course to enhance student achievement and success.

Specifically, On Course includes the following eight student success principles which represent the essential qualities of “good learners”:

1. Self-Responsibility
2. Self-Motivation
3. Self-Management
4. Interdependence
5. Self-Awareness
6. Life-Long Learning
7. Emotional Intelligence
8. Self-Esteem

The On Course website provides an extensive collection of learner-centered strategies and practical applications (activities) for each of the success principles - visit: www.oncourseworkshop.com/Student%20Success%20Strategies.htm

On Course strategies have been successfully integrated into Learning Community, English and Personal Growth courses at City College. Furthermore, English Professors Jan Jarrell and Barbara Laird-Jackson are certified On Course ambassadors.

Learn about On Course and choose the strategies that best fit your teaching and learning needs. Your students will appreciate the learning experience.