What type of Math class should I take?

Online Self-Paced (46 & 96)
- I want the flexibility of working online 24/7.
- I need to progress more slowly.
- I need to progress more quickly.
- The add deadline has passed, or the other courses are closed.
- I have good time-management skills, and am a good self-learner.
- I have reliable internet access.
- Commuting to campus is difficult; I work better at home.

Pros and Cons
- Flexible schedule. Open Tuesday through Saturday.
- Self paced. Complete the course in a few weeks or up to two semesters if you need more time.
- You can add anytime during the semester.
- Many resources to fit your learning style: textbook, workshops, tutors, videos, tutorials, diagnostic testing.
- Self-paced course requires self-discipline.
- You must meet the on-campus attendance requirement.
- Patience required for access to shared resources.

Online Refresher (15A, B, C & E)
- I want the flexibility of working online 24/7.
- I need an inexpensive way to complete my math prerequisites.
- I need to refresh my math skills.
- The add deadline has passed.
- I am motivated and self-disciplined.
- I have reliable internet access.
- I haven't taken this level of math before, but I'm good at math and I think I can learn this way.
- I want to challenge a math prerequisite and don't want to take a full course.
- I want to clear a block from re-taking a math course.

Pros
- 24/7 access fits any schedule.
- Self paced. Complete the course in a few weeks or up to two semesters if you need more time.
- You can add at anytime during the semester.
- Many resources to fit your learning style: online lessons, videos, mastery testing, online tutors, unlimited practice problems, links to useful math sites.
- Access to Math Center resources.
- You can access the class from anywhere online.

Cons
- Online course requires self-discipline.
- You must meet the class attendance requirement online.
- The final exam is administered on-campus.

Math Center (38, 46 & 96)
- I need a flexible schedule.
- I need to progress more slowly.
- I need to progress more quickly.
- The add deadline has passed or the other courses are closed.
- I am motivated and self-disciplined.
- I like to work on a one-on-one basis with a tutor.

Pros
- Flexible schedule. Open Tuesday through Saturday.
- You can add anytime during the semester.
- Many resources to fit your learning style: textbook, workshops, tutors, videos, tutorials, diagnostic testing.

Cons
- Self-paced course requires self-discipline.
- You must meet the on-campus attendance requirement.
- Patience required for access to shared resources.

1-unit is deceptive. Unless the course is totally a review for you, it takes the same effort and time as a full 3 or 5-unit course.
- As with any online course, it requires reliable internet access and self-discipline.